2014 Summer Grazing Workshop

Participants learned how to control weeds, improve soil health, maximize grains per acre, reduce drought effect, improve fertility, and improve animal performance. This workshop was held in association with the US Department of Agriculture, University of Tennessee Extension and Tennessee State University.